

Perforated metal or expanded mesh sun shade

An overhead sun-shade using a perforated metal screen and frame reduces mid-summer sun and light – the amount will depend on the number and size of perforations. They can be retrofitted, and are a moderate cost option. But they can be visually distracting and will require cleaning.