

Locating a house to avoid shading

Building close to the south boundary will maximise the solar gain if there are significant obstructions on the northern side – remember that your proposed building will also be creating shaded areas on the site and may be affecting neighbours.

© BRANZ 2007