

Schematic of on-site domestic wastewater treatment

Where a sewerage connection is not available, the treatment system chosen must meet performance requirements for construction and operation covered by the New Zealand Building Code.

A resource consent may be required, and the local authority and/or regional council may have its own specific bylaws controlling the installation. Contact these bodies before starting to design a system.

© BRANZ 2007