

Deciduous vines provide shade in summer but the leaves fall in winter allowing the sun to penetrate

Shade from a vine-covered pergola

The deciduous vines reduce summer sun and allow in winter sun when the leaves fall (the woody parts of the plants remaining provide about 20% shading). Vines require some maintenance and may not be suitable for windy areas.