

Sound paths through electrical fittings

Sound will travel through any break in an acoustic system such as back-to-back power outlets. This will reduce the effectiveness of the acoustic system.