

Schematic of separate on-site domestic greywater and blackwater treatment systems

Treating greywater separately from blackwater is an option facing designers of on-site systems. If a separate treatment for greywater is chosen, providing a means of diverting greywater to the blackwater treatment is recommended.

© BRANZ 2007