

Typical septic tank land application system

The effluent distribution is usually gravity-fed but may be pumped. There may be a distribution/diverter box to direct effluent into the trenches. Drainage is improved if part of the system is periodically 'rested' to prevent drains becoming clogged by saturated conditions.

© BRANZ 2007