

Note: if a backup mains water supply is provided to the toilet cistern it must have an air gap or backflow prevention device

Treatment of greywater in proprietary system for use in toilet cisterns and irrigation

Greywater used for toilet flushing should be treated to reduce harmful bacteria. Commercially manufactured systems which do this are available.

© BRANZ 2007